Hello Ms. (b) (6)

I am sending this email as a follow-up to our past conversations held in April 2015. We are interested in sampling and investigating your property while we sample and investigate the Wilcox Oil Company Superfund Site. In our past conversations, you have expressed concern related to potential waste on your property. In order for us to look into these areas, we will need to have access to your property. I have attached a Blank access agreement for your review. As you look over the access agreement, you will notice that it will give us access to sample your property, analyze those samples in a laboratory, take a cleanup action to protect human health and/o the environment, and photograph the samples and locations. Although you may provide us access, we will coordinate our efforts with you and explain our plans and sampling procedures prior to accessing your property. We will work closely with you while we plan and perform this work. Please also note that the access you grant to us is voluntary, and you may revoke it at any time.

I have been working closely with Todd Downham of the Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality, and you have received phone calls and/or messages from him regarding this topic as well.

If you have any questions, please give either Todd or I a call.

You may either sign and send the document by mail to my attention at the address listed below, or if there is another option you prefer, please let us know. We are in the area regularly and may be able to meet you.

Thank you for your continued interest.

Subject: land pics

Mrs. Coltrain,

Pictures show that there is nothing that grows on this portion of the land. There are also spots throughout smaller than this portion that appears the same. I am attaching pictures. I have also attached to where I have traced land back to the Lorraine Oil Co. in 1925. If there is anything further I can do please let me know. I would love to get this cleaned up to make it viable land again. I have chunks of this black stuff in other places on the land. Some we have dug up while tilling garden area. I also believe the land across the tracks is my property also and there are cement pylons and other things on that area. I really appreciate your help.

Thank you,

(b) (6)
